

Motivation for Live

The term motivational is used in the sense of awakening interest and will in achieving goals. If we give credence to the worldwide success it is achieving in a multitude of courses, workshops, programs and books, it would seem to be having a great deal of influence on society in the areas of development of human potential, self-esteem, workplace excellence, personal and business ethics, and sense of responsibility. The author Rolando Prado provides the reader with a good selection of proverbs that bring forth both reason and emotion, many of which were written by the author himself.
