

A Reprayer Story: Overcoming WFDs Volume 1

A person living with a life-long disease shouldnt be labeled as lazy or crazy. I tried to understand the concept of others by evaluating myself. I discovered many couldnt cope with my MS. They strayed away by not visiting or not calling me. It was hard to deal with at first. Life is not to please others but to glorify GOD. The more time I spend with GOD the better I feel. I had a void of disappointments but now I have an opened array of blessings. Ive learned to be patient and to trust GOD. Man cannot guarantee me a fulfilled and successful life, only GOD can. Through GODS anointing spirit, I had to overcome the WFDs in my life. I was worried about my finances, I feared relationships, and I doubted my ability to live successful. GOD is guiding me toward countless blessings.

Perry Lee McDonald was born and raised in Jackson, Mississippi. Hes a graduate of Callaway High School and Jackson State University. Perry lives in Jackson with his adorable wife, Alisa and their wonderful and poetic son, LeDaniel. Favorite quote: Dont try to get over because you will go under.
