

Crumbs From My Seder Plate: Passover verses

A hapenny Haggadah at a sixpenny Seder; this entertaining collection of seasonal verse for Passover includes affectionate tributes to Edward Lear and AA Milne and poignant reflections on a family festival. Sometime celebration of the evocative language of Pesach In Every Generation; frequently a shrewd glance across the festive week - from the unsung heroine in the kitchen to the gastric reality of a matzo-based diet. For Seder night itself, a fresh approach to the four sons, rituals, parables and songs and a nod to the oldest Haggadah on the table. Crumbs in my margins, embossed in my spine; My colours have faded, No gilding may last; My perfume is apple and cinnamon fine; The fragrance of family, scent of the past Already a firm favourite on Britains Passover tables, this is delightful treat whatever the season. A perfect seder night gift and a book to treasure, an adults wry appreciation of cherished childhood and Anglo-Jewish life and humour, from this popular poet, award-winning author and broadcaster. A witty and loving tribute - Jewish News A wonderful book. Full of affection both for the traditional English childhood and the traditional Anglo-Jewish Seder night. A great little addition to your familys Seder night reading, whether you are six years old or sixty - The Jewish Chronicle Gentle and witty. Homage to the greats of every childs bookshelf sits alongside tender and touching reflections on the seasons legacy. A neat little volume to treasure year round. - The Canada Post
