

Omega (Col Sec) (Volume 2)

This is a new edition of the book, re-edited with new cover artwork. Matthew Hawk, an agent of Col Sec Intelligence Division was vital to the rescue mission that helped bring Kurt Stryder back from the clutches of the Elysium Alliance in Ronin, the first in the Col Sec series. In OMEGA, Matt takes centre stage. On a mission to capture a terrorist cell Matt and a group of Recon Delta marines led by Colonel De Boer, find more than they bargained for. They captured a lone figure who turned out to be their first contact with OMEGA an insidious group that had infiltrated all walks of life including even the protector of the Colonial Confederation itself, Col Sec. Once they returned to Col Sec HQ on Earth for interrogation they learn that this figure is more than they realise and more dangerous than they could ever imagine. Narrowly evading their death at the hands of their captive and an unknown cohort, General Sinclair, the head of Intelligence Division and Matt Hawk begin an investigation into the true nature of this OMEGA group. What role does Jonas Wilde, the second in command of MaxCorp, possibly one of the largest megacorp in the galaxy and the supplier of tec and munitions to Col Sec, play in this? Does Maxwell Eisenhower, the head of MaxCorp know anything? Through a sudden intervention by Tanya Wilde, the daughter of Jonas, Matt learns something that leads him to a conclusion so shocking that it could rock the very foundation of the Colonial Confederation. He has to act fast to save the lives of this beautiful young woman and his friends and colleagues in Col Sec before OMEGA launches a catastrophic attack on Col Sec HQ. Revelation after revelation unveil themselves as Matt and those at Col Sec fight for survival until the truth is finally revealed and he faces the head of OMEGA. Only one force can survive this confrontation and Matt prays that he is on the winning side. Jan Domagala picks up the pace with OMEGA, the second in the Col Sec series, so be prepared as this is one you will devour on one sitting.
