

Existence... The Tale of a Fanged Killer

Orin Cottage was a man that walked many years past his death after the night of his 35th birthday and lived to tell the tale. He dreamed, he learned, he loved and he killed. His infinite desire became death, while timeless wandering was his life. A murky cesspool of guilty actions ravaged his sleep filled days, while the unsettling knowledge of what he had become became his nights. His tale is one of a fanged killer, reborn wearing the human disguise of a mortal. He roamed without a pulse or a touch warmed by the steady beat of a living heart. Each day was his last since he died on the night of his birthday. Although death is forever, he still walks among the living and the breathing as a victim of his own Existence
