

Letters to Words

My words. The following is a collection of personal poems and essays inspired by my experiences in life, love and faith. I've been writing for most of my life and I can say that there have been times that I've been so overwhelmed by an experience or emotion that only writing helps me release it. I find that in any form of art, expressing emotions through such a release connects the artist to others on a personal level. I bring you to a place deep inside, an honest place, that you may be familiar with. And in that familiarity, we connect. My hope is that through my words, you can find your own release and maybe, just maybe, be inspired to express it in your own form of art.
