Please read the testimonials to appreciate what university professors, poets and other people have commented about Tony Kaplans poetry.*I am delighted to add this work; Blue Glazed Eyes to the Librarys collections and thank you for thinking of the British Library.Yours sincerely, Duncan G Heyes Curator, Modern British Collections*Thank you very much for your kind offer of a CD version of Blue glazed eyes. We would also like to purchase your title The November tree. Can you send us this book with your invoice (an informal one will do)? I can then authorize payment by check.Look forward to your reply, I remainDr G. Wiedermann: Head of English Collection Development, Cambridge University Yours sincerely,* UNIVERSITY OF DUBLIN 13 January 2005*Thank you for Blue Glazed Eyes which, at last (and perhaps reluctantly!)Im going to give to the College Library. There are some wonderful life affirming poems here; also some humorous ones (actually a lovely, human humour runs through the book); and a very attractive, personal, philosophical power of gazing, of absorbing, of sharing what you see. Prof. Brendan Kennelly*Dear Tony Kaplan, 13.4.07Your book looks very interesting. I have read a few of the poems now and they are idiomatic and energetic in a way I admire.Prof. David Morley Senior Lecturer, Director Warwick University Writing Programe.This collection is the collected and distilled poetic work of a considerable talent. It was a welcome surprise to encounter it; whether it should be considered as personal or general, as spiritual, or as verse of emotion, or as commentary does not matter; because Tony Kaplans varies, textured writing is all these things and more, from the elegiac note of A Philosophical Fool to the witty, complex approach of A Zig-Zag Walking Man. Mark Sykes: Editor-In-Chief Athena Press, US And UK Dear Tony Kaplan Assumption University of Thailand: the first international university in Thailand. Thank you very much for the enlightening poems. I have read a few and like them very much. With your permission, refer to them to my students when appropriate. You must feel wonderful to be able to pen so many poems. 26 Dec 2005 10:20:08 +0800 (CST) Subject: poems Dear Mr Tony Kaplan I feel that your stanza is very clear. I can appreciate two special qualities from your poetry. One is a perfect melody, the other one is a splendid imagination. I think that it is really worth reading your poetry. I believe that reading your poems will help me to improve my English and will make my English study better. I envy your studious spirit and talent. You are truly a great poet in my heart. I hope that your published books will sell very well in future. (An artist from Shanghai: I traveled with him, from Beijing to Shanghai, by train at that night I wrote Communist Train poem) Dear Mr Kaplan 2008 I really like your style, especially your sense of humour. Too much poetry is so serious! Kind regards Simon a Musician, London SW19* Dear T Kaplan Thank you for the letter. It was a pleasant surprise for me to find out that writing of poems is your big passion. I consider it a great gift to be able to express deep feelings and emotions in such a beautiful and sublime form. As to my personal opinion, I really liked your poems and especially The November Tree and Morning Song. Best Wishes, Julia Procenk 06.02.1998* You are very articulate and some of the quotes on reflection are deeper than what appears on the surface. I will definitely keep the book and not ask for the refund. You are only person I know on the book if not satisfied with the book, money back guaranty.
