

With Great Desire: One Womans Journey

There are 164 pieces of writing in this book. Much of the work centers on God, either trying to find him or just in praise of his nature. I also share my thoughts on the human condition, my everyday problems which occurred when dealing with depression. There is something in this book for everyone. This is my second work to be published. Both books are spiritual in nature and pieces were written over a number of years. The first book is entitled By Grand Design and was published by Xlibris Publishing Company. You can go online to Amazon to see excerpts from that book. I was born in Baton Rouge, Louisiana on September 2, 1946, the youngest of five children. I am a wife, mother of three, grandmother of six and great grandmother of seven children. I am spiritual by nature and most of my writing centers on reaching out to God. Each time that I wrote a piece, I dated it so I could look back and see how I was faring at that point in time. As you will notice, I have had my share of ups and downs. My poems have brought comfort to many people over my lifetime as well as helping me overcome chronic depression. It gives me joy to write and to share my thoughts with others. I hope that you, the reader can take away some comfort or inspiration from my work.
