

ISO 3218:1976, Essential oils -- Principles of nomenclature

To distinguish essential oils from fixed oils, the expression oil of ... shall be used. The commonly accepted trivial name of the plant shall follow these words. When no trivial name exists, the complete botanical name shall be used instead. If more than one part of the plant can be used for the extraction of essential oil, the name of the part employed shall follow the trivial name of the plant. If necessary the name of the country or area the plants are coming from shall precede the trivial name and the method used for obtaining the essential oil shall be indicated after a comma at the end of the title. Examples for English and French nomenclature are given. This title may contain less than 24 pages of technical content.
