

My Husbands Mother

Cheryl had no idea when she got her degree in psychology that her family would need her more than her patients. Having gone through an abusive marriage, Cheryl gets a divorce, but soon after, meets and marries Byron Buford. Byron is everything in a man that Cheryl could ever want a good provider and the perfect lover. But like any other man, Byron too has a flaw his mother, B. Mama. Cheryl and her two sisters-in-law, Ariel and Brenda, are as different as night and day, but they have something terrible in common they all hate B. Mama. Cheryl always believed that wives and mothers-in-law should get along, especially since they cared about the same man. But after many encounters with B. Mama, she realizes that B. Mama is nothing more than a low-down, unlawful, trifling bitch. Cheryl can't understand for the life of her why B. Mama has to be in control of her sons' marriages. She encourages one to beat his wife while blackmailing the wife of another one, but there is one B. Mama can't seem to break down the new addition to the family, Cheryl Ann Buford. When Byron is awakened constantly during the night, Cheryl tries to unravel the truth behind his persistent nightmares. Even though Byron won't admit it, his suspicions lead him to believe that the meaning of these dreams can only be unlocked by one person B. Mama. When a strange woman from B. Mama's past appears on the scene, the family finds out more about B. Mama than they thought they already knew. Family members are tortured by one tragedy after another. Adultery, rape, abuse, and even murder play a major role in the lives of the Bufords, but when a granddaughter has been kidnapped, the lives of the Buford family will change forever. Can they or will they ever survive it?
