

The Gaps Between The Tracks: Auditory Dreams: Volume One

A blind, widowed, vinyl-record-obsessive struggles to come to terms with the life he cant see lying ahead of him. With London facing an imminent bomb threat, terrorism investigator, Tony Alliss, calls on the assistance of ex-London cabbie, Lorry Francis, a man he inadvertently cost his sight four years before. Lorry utilises his remaining senses to unravel the mysteries they encounter and escape various predicaments, as he aids Tony and his team in discovering the truth. In so doing, he is forced to re-live the events that robbed him of his wife and sight. Reclusively cocooned, Lorry immerses himself in vinyl records to an unhealthy extent. His visual memories are all contained in the tunes and lyrics. But that lifestyle has held him back, much to the frustration of his daughter, therapist and Tony. Fast paced and dynamic, but detailing some of the many dilemmas a visually-impaired person, not to mention record collector, faces in life, the reader is catapulted through the trials and tribulations of the characters, as we discover things are not as they first appear. I decided to write a book about a blind bloke. Then I decided to write it first person, present tense...just to make it as difficult as possible!
