

The Hilltop Boys on the River

[...] Very good. Thats all for the present, and Jack went out. His next call was at the machine shop he had spoken of, and going on their wharf he looked around, saw an old rowboat lying on the ground, took a good look at it, and then went to the foreman and said: What do you want for that rowboat lying on the wharf? Id like to buy it. It will just suit me. It is not worth much, Mr. Sheldon, said the foreman. You can have it if you want it.[...].
