

Borderlines - english version

In the remote future, people forcibly removed from Earth, the most developed planet in the Universe, have colonized other planets. New enmities and contradictions have emerged, resembling those of Earth today. Rob, a young and restless man, cannot accept the idea that all other inhabitants of the Universe are enemies to be kept well away from Earth's boundaries. While he travels to see and understand other planets, his old Mentor tries to explain to him the reasons that have produced the existing situation. But times are changing and nothing can stay the same
