

With Christ at Sea: A Religious Autobiography (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from With Christ at Sea: A Religious Autobiography It may be objected by many who read these lines, that there is a great deal too much of the Ego in them. If so, I can assure the objectors that I sympathise with them deeply. That is my feeling exactly. Yet, when you come to think of it, apart from the fact that I was requested to put my experiences of religious life at sea in this personal form, there really seems to have been no help for it, unless I had set up a fictitious personage and given him my real experiences. This would have been pleasanter for me, no doubt; would have saved me from many sarcastic remarks, &c.; but it would, I fear, have defeated the object for which I was asked to write. I confess I am hopeful about the future of this little book, more so than the circumstances would warrant perhaps, certainly much more so than I have ever been before with my other works. And for this reason. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
