

A Cold Trail

Two men, shrouded by years of secrets, dead on Mt. Washington. Two lives brought together, searching for the reasons. Two countries, allies and enemies. Ian Bishop and Richard Van Owen were two old men who had been friends for decades. They were legends in the White Mountains of New Hampshire. But each of them had a past that was unknown to each other and those around them. When they are found dead on Mount Washington their past comes out of the shadows. Philip Wright, and agent with Interpol's Counter Terrorism and Intelligence team befriends Jessica Ryan, a local police officer. Together, they search for the clues and the reasons why the two men died. But they come up against hastily assembled roadblocks. Set on the backdrop of some of the most beautiful scenery and mountains in the northeast United States, as well as the home of the world's worst weather, Philip Wright finds nations that are allies in the world also carry out clandestine operations against each other.
